

I was born in Serbia in 1952. I graduated on Faculty of Veterinary medicine on University of Belgrade in 1978. On the same faculty, I finished specialist studies. And on Agriculture Faculty I have finished PhD studies.

Until now, I published 145 works, scientific and expert, in the areas of kinology and veterine. Beside that, I wrote 13 books on kinology, and the book 'Fundamentals of dog genetics', only such work ever published in Serbian language, is used on the Faculty of Veterinary medicine as an additional textbook. I'm a lecturer of the kinology course on that same faculty for years.

I am a member of several expert organizations in land and abroad, and am a member of NYAS since 1999.

I became international FCI judge in 1978. Since then I judged in 45 different countries. On three continents, Asia, Europe and Africa. I've judged on several European and World Dog Shows.

In year of 1981 I registered a kennel "TAURUNUM". And before the kennel I had dogs since the early ages of my life. The dogs breeds were: German hunting terrier, in that breed I was breeder more than 30 years. The next breeds were German short and wire hair pointer, Hungarian vizsla, Sarplaninac, English setter, English pointer, Serbian sheepheard dog, Poodles. I am not a breed fanatic and I like all good dogs. I was one the founders of the club for German hunting terriers, and almost 15 years president of that club. I am a judge for work of all hunting dogs, and I judged that work in many countries.

Beside that I and my wife founded a Poodle club, and I was president of the club for almost 20 years. Beside hunting dogs I was Poodle breeder.

More than 20 years I am studying mounting dogs.

I read, write and speak German, and am able to communicate in English, Russian, Rumanian and Slovakian.

M. Urošević, DVM, MSc, PhD , All Round FCI judge.
